

Quel Navet ! What a flop !

by Sue Burgess

Thanks to Keith Bradley for pointing out a mistake that slipped into last month's article about veggies. Parsnips are of course panais and a navet is a turnip. That is unless of course it is a complete flop! (the alternative meaning for navet).

To express your tastes and your opinions, you can use adjectives or adverbs:

- C'est bien → c'est mal (it's good → it's bad)
- C'est passionnant → c'est ennuyeux (it's enthralling → it's boring)
- C'est bon → c'est mauvais (it's good → it's bad)
- C'est juste → c'est faux (it's correct → it's wrong).

You can give your opinion about someone or something:

- C'est un bon film → c'est un mauvais film (it's a good film → it's a bad film)
- C'est une idée excellente → c'est une mauvaise idée (it's an excellent idea → it's a bad idea).
- C'est un garçon sympathique → c'est un garçon déplaisant (He's a pleasant boy → he's an unpleasant boy).

Be careful: bien / mal are adverbs (they don't change) - You should say: "Il est bien, ton rapport" or "C'est un bon rapport" (it is good, your report / It is a good report).

You can shade your opinion by using words such as très (very), plutôt (rather), assez (quite), or familiar expressions like super, hyper, vachement (great, top, really). C'est super bon. C'est hyper bon. C'est vachement bon.

You can also use the negative form:

- Ce n'est pas bon = c'est mauvais.
- Ce n'est pas mauvais = c'est bon.

By using combinations of the expressions given above, you have different shades ranging from positive opinions to negative opinions, slang expressions and more formal expressions.

Hyper bon / super bon / vachement bon / excellent / exquis, (exquisite) succulent, (succulent), super chouette (really great).

From very positive to less positive: très bon / très /assez / plutôt / assez bon / plutôt bon / pas mauvais / sans intérêt (without interest).

And from bad to very bad: pas trop mauvais / pas bon / franchement mauvais / horrible or other adjectives: affreux (awful), nul (rubbish), vachement mauvais (really bad), ennuyeux (boring).

If you like slang type expressions you have super mauvais (REALLY bad) and hyper mauvais (really really bad).
